

1. Make a list of the objects in the picture
2. What does this data tell you about the person who lives in this room?
3. What does it not tell you?
4. What are most of the items in this room related to?

5. How many toy soldiers are there? Now compare with the other group.
6. Are there any advantages to one representation or another?
7. Do you think different representations can tell different stories?
8. What do you think came first, the drawing of the room or the list?
9. What do you think data for discover means?
10. What do you think data for predictions mean?